DANGEROUS WINTER STORM ADVISORY for Thursday, December 24 through Friday, December 25!

Per the National Weather Service: "Stay inside and enjoy Christmas!" Travel is discouraged from Thursday evening through late Friday evening. Travel will be dangerous to nearly impossible throughout all of Northeast Kansas (including Topeka/Lawrence Metro and Kansas City Metro Areas). Blowing snow will cause drifting on the highways making driving hazardous.

REMEMBER Drivers: Stay SAFE, stay off the roads, stay inside!

City of Topeka: As of 4 a.m. Christmas Day, the City of Topeka has declared a Snow Emergency. This means vehicles parked on designated snow routes can be ticketed or towed at the owner's expense. Designated snow routes are marked by red and white signs.

Kansas City Snow Ordinances Now In Effect (this morning): Kansas City officials have implemented the first two phases of the city snow ordinance. More at: <http://bit.ly/8eqrHi>

From Nebraska Dept. of Roads (NDOR): Travel remains DANGEROUS in Nebraska. I-80 is closed at various locations. <http://www.roads.nebraska.gov/511/bulletins/bulletin.pdf>

From Iowa Dept. of Transportation: Southbound Interstate 29 closed in Woodbury County: AMES, Iowa - Dec. 25, 2009; 6:30 p.m. update - The winter storm... <http://bit.ly/5zdkYU>

THE WINTER WEATHER ADVISORY IS NOW IN EFFECT UNTIL 6 AM CST SATURDAY.

Wind: West winds of 20 to 25 mph with higher gusts will persist through the overnight hours. This will cause continued blowing and drifting of snow.

Wind chill: Wind chill readings from zero to 10 below will continue tonight.

Snow accumulations: Additional accumulations of snow from around an inch along interstate 35 to 2 inches along interstate 70 are possible by Saturday morning.

Impacts: Travel will be treacherous due blowing snow reducing visibilities to half a mile or less at times...and making roads difficult to keep clear as well as causing deep snow drifts

Precautionary/preparedness actions...travel will be very difficult this morning. Unless absolutely necessary...people are advised to stay home.

Greater Kansas City Metro Area

Christmas Day: Snow likely and widespread blowing snow. Cloudy, with a high near 17. Wind chill values between -1 and 4. Breezy, with a west southwest wind around 22 mph, with gusts as high as 30 mph. Chance of precipitation is 70%. Total daytime snow accumulation of around an inch possible.

Tonight: Snow and widespread blowing snow. Low around 12. Wind chill values between -5 and zero. Breezy, with a west wind between 16 and 23 mph, with gusts as high as 31 mph. Chance of precipitation is 90%. New snow accumulation of around an inch possible.

Saturday: Areas of blowing snow and a chance of snow. Cloudy, with a high near 23. Wind chill values between -1 and 9. West wind between 14 and 18 mph, with gusts as high as 28 mph. Chance of precipitation is 40%.

THE WINTER WEATHER ADVISORY FOR SNOW AND BLOWING SNOW IS NOW IN EFFECT UNTIL MIDNIGHT CST TONIGHT.

Light snow and flurries will continue in areas along and south of the Missouri river...including the Kansas City metropolitan areas...this afternoon and evening as an upper level storm system lingers to our northeast. Snow accumulation should remain light in nature...with most areas receiving less than 1 inch of snow.

However...strong west winds will persist through this evening with sustained winds of 20 to 30 mph and gusts as high as 35 mph possible. Extensive blowing and drifting snow will reduce visibilities to one half mile at times. Numerous roads may be impacted by this drifting snow...with north to south running roads the most susceptible to hazardous driving conditions. Travelers are urged to use extreme caution tonight.

The strong winds in combination with temperatures in the mid-teens will combine to produce bitterly cold wind chills between zero and 10 below this evening.

Precautionary/preparedness actions...a winter weather advisory means dangerous winter weather conditions are occurring. Falling and blowing snow with strong winds and poor visibilities are likely. This will make travel extremely dangerous. If you must travel...have a winter survival kit with you. If you get stranded...stay with your vehicle.

Current Road Conditions

Snow continues to fall and/or blow throughout all of northeast Kansas. KDOT crews are on the roadways primarily plowing (with minor treating) on an ongoing basis. However due to the gusting winds, blowing snow and the cold temps, drifting continues to be a huge problem and it is proving to be extremely difficult to get roadways cleared and keep them that way. It will be this way throughout the evening and overnight hours and possibly into the daytime hours on Saturday. Numerous NE Kansas highways are still closed (see below) at this point in time. See the chart below for current roadway conditions for individual northeast Kansas counties.

Driver Safety Tips

Please remind DRIVERS if they must travel about to:

1. Take it SLOW!
2. Allow plenty of extra drive time.
3. Watch for icy/slick spots on the roadway; don't assume that if the pavement looks clear, that it is.
4. Buckle up every passenger, every time.
5. If they get stranded, to stay with their vehicle and call *47 on a state highway/interstate route (any highway that begins with I-, K-, and US-), *KTA on the Kansas Turnpike, or #911 at anytime.

For travel throughout the remainder of the day, drivers should use extreme caution, IF THEY MUST GET OUT, allow plenty of driving time, buckle up (every passenger, every time) and be sure to turn on their headlights, and turn off their cruise control. Drivers should also provide for a safe distance or cushion between themselves and vehicles ahead of them.

We also want to remind drivers to stay a safe distance back from KDOT snow plows, and if drivers should pass the snow plows, to be extra careful and allow plenty of room as the trucks do travel slower than surrounding traffic.
